What a lovely Lighthouse. It is such a pity that the foghorn is no longer operating (The morons!) At the horn is still in place though. That's one piece of good news. Hope to hear it again soon!

The Isle of Man is located in the Irish Sea at the geographical centre of the British Isles.

The head of state is Queen Elizabeth II, who holds the title of Lord of Mann. The Isle of Man is not a part of the European Union, but has a limited relationship relating to the free movement of goods.

l'Union européenne mais relève directement de la propriété du souverain britannique, actuellement la reine Elizabeth II. Ce statut n'en fait toutefois pas un État reconnu indépendant mais celui-ci dispose d'une large autonomie politique et économique.

18.1 - Douglas harbour (Isle of Man)

The inner harbour marina (accessible at approximately high water +/- 2 hours) is the main area for visiting leisure craft to berth but there are also berths in the outer harbour which are less dependent on the tides. A summer only pontoon is available for short periods at all states of tide at the Battery Pier (by No. 14 Berth) A slipway for the launching of small craft at all tidal states is situated next to the Fort Anne Jetty.

Entry to the Harbour is gained from the N.E. (heading 229) by leading marks (white opposing triangles) which are illuminated at night by flashing (occ 10s) white lights, now supplemented by red flashing opposing arrows. This approach will avoid possible overfalls at the end of the Breakwater The fairway is marked by two Starboard hand buoys (Q(3)G.5s) & (Fl.G3s) with, to Port, a concrete 'dolphin' (2F.red vert) which marks the end of the Breakwater. At the entrance, tides of up to 2 knots to the North East and South can be expected during flood and ebb tides respectively.

Castletown is a heritage harbour consisting of outer and inner drying harbours. It is mainly used by inshore fishing vessels, local and visiting pleasure craft and occasional coasters.

Berths available

* Moorings: One white can type mooring buoy is situated 3 cables SE of the Breakwater Head (water depth at least 4M) (seasonal).
* Slipway: There are three, half tide slipways.

On approach it is important to pass the red Can buoy (Fl.R 3s) which marks the Lheeah rio rocks, to port. The Breakwater Head lighthouse (white tower Red band Oc.R 15s) transit with the Irish Quay lighthouse (white tower red band Oc.R 4s) lead at approx. 323 degrees. It is advisable to pass to the North East of this transit to pass clear of a training wall from the Breakwater Head.
